Being a headteacher and also CEO of a multi-academy trust has some challenges. The ones that have always been the most complicated are those involving human resources issues. The beauty of working alongside Marilyn is that you know you are working with someone that has an astounding depth of knowledge but also understands the challenges of running a school.

When I pick up the phone to Marilyn I do so with 100% confidence that the advice will be legally accurate but also sensitive to the context of our work with young people. Common sense and pragmatism is at the forefront of any working relationship and Marilyn offers both in abundance. I do wonder whether there is a clone of Marilyn as she seems to be able to make herself available whenever she is needed which is remarkable.

The mixture of thoroughness, professionalism and humanity that Marilyn has demonstrated in all of my dealings with her make the service she offers quite remarkable.

I can endorse Marilyn wholeheartedly and unreservedly. Please feel free to contact me directly if you want any further details.
